

Britain from Above, is a new website launched in 2014 by English Heritage and the Royal Commissions on the Ancient and Historical Monuments of Scotland and Wales; it features some of the oldest and most valuable images of the Aerofilms Collection, a unique and important archive of over 1 million aerial photographs taken between 1919 and 2006. More than 75,000 images are being made freely accessible online to the public for the first time. . Clicking on a link below shows the photograph. (Photographs are subject to copyright restrictions) If you register as a user, you are then able to hide the pins by clicking on this choice in the menu bar below the picture or add further information yourself.

1. Egremont, Market Place and Castle, 1929