Ancient Monuments in this township

1923 List

COCKERMOUTH AND SETMURTHY.

Stone circle: 100 yds. N.E. of Elva plain house: 15 stones remaining; 50 ft. radius, with outlier to S.W. (W. D. Anderson, N.S. xxiii, 29).

Churches:

- (a) St. Barnabas', Setmurthy, rebuilt 1794; graveslab.
- (b) All Saints', Cockermouth, rebuilt 1710, 1852. Graveslab (N.S. xii, 87).
- Cockermouth Castle, 13th cent.; hall 1360; partly in ruins. (W. Jackson and Canon Knowles, O.S. iv, 109; J. F. Curwen, N.S. xi, 129; Castles, 127).

Domestic:

- (a) Old Hall, Cockermouth, rebuilt early 17th cent. The "closet where Mary Q. of Scots slept" so called in error (J. H. Martindale, N.S. xi, 159).
- (b) Huthwaite or Hewthwaite Hall, partly rebuilt by John Swinburn, 1583 (M. W. Taylor, O.S. xii, 161; J. H. Martindale, N.S. xi, 163).
- Old road: 1195 Cockermouth to Lorton, past "Cruce Sundwize," ? at cross road to Hundwith Hill (W. P. Haskett-Smith, N.S. xxi, 156).
- Find: stone hammer, c. 1904, at Moorland Close, 1¼ m. S.W. of Cockermouth (E. Jackson, N.S. vi, 149)

See Pastscape for much more detail on these and more entries (55 in total – though there may be some overlap with other townships).